House Refuses To Cut Peace Time Army

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—An authorized peace time army of 230,000 enlisted men and 17,820 officers was approved today by the house, which by a vote of 79 to 25 refused to amend the army reorganization bill so as to fix the maximum strength at 236,000 men and 14,500 officers.

NO MORE LOANS TO ALLIES BY AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—The allied governments will receive no further loans from the American government, Secretary Houston announced today.

Loans made to the allies to date, total $3,639,834.94 of the ten billions authorized by congress, Mr. Houston said, and it was not deemed advisable to utilize the remainder of the authorization.

PROCLAIM INDEPENDENCE OF EGYPT AND SUDAN

LONDON, March 10.—Fifty-two members of the Egyptian legislative assembly recently met at the house of Said Sagouli Pasha, who headed the Egyptian mission to the peace conference, and adopted a resolution proclaiming the independence of Egypt and the Sudan, according to a dispatch from Cairo.

FORM A NEW BROTHERS OF TURK CABINET VICTIM WILL WITNESS THE EXECUTION

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 10.—Said Pasha, the new grand vizier, has announced with the sultan's approval, the formation of a new cabinet, the eighth since the armistice. Diplomats in this city attach little importance to the changes made, considering the cabinet to be virtually powerless to oppose the nationalist group in the chamber, which is directed by Mustafa Kemal from Ankara. Only three new members were appointed to the cabinet, they being Djelal Bey, president of the council of state; Zia Bey, minister of commerce; and Omar Housseini Bey, minister of finance. The ministers of finance and justice were not appointed. Said Pasha will be minister of the navy in addition to grand vizier.

Selection of the personnel of the military followed days of wrangling between Mustafa Kemal's nationalist forces and the sultan, who was under pressure from various representatives. It was originally reported the cabinet would force four young and aggressive members of their party hold seats in the chamber of deputies. The cabinet, however, is decidedly more favorable to the nationalists than the one that resigned on March 1.

SEMI-SENSE STRIKERS BACK. CLEVELAND, O., March 10.—After being a season on the line of not returning to work to his teaching duties, the employees of Swift & Co., decided to return to work.

READY TO VOTE ON SUFFRAGE

CHARLESTON, W. VA., March 10.—State Senator Jesse A. Hinch, of Wheeling, completed his 3,000 mile journey today across the continent from California to Charleston early this morning in order to vote on the federal suffrage amendment in the senate of the West Virginia legislature.

Senate forces favoring ratification anticipated immediate action upon the amendment when it convened this afternoon, and with Senator Hinch's vote hoped to break the deadlock which has existed between pro and anti-suffrage forces since the special session of the legislature was called. Anti-suffragists, according to their leaders' declarations last night, were fighting to defeat ratification and there was some talk among them of protesting the seat of Senator Raymond Dedmon, who is listed on the side of the suffragists. Opponents of ratification claim that Senator Dedmon, while representing Spencer, Boone county, had his residence and business in Charleston. His supporters assert that his official residence is at Spencer.

LIVES, MONEY AND SHIPPING NEEDLESSLY LOST BY NAVY'S DELAY DURING WAR, SIMS TELLS THE PROBING COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—Failure of the navy department to fully co-operate in the war during the first six months after America's entry cost half a million lives, fifteen billion dollars, 2,500,000 tons of shipping and prevented a victory over Germany by July, 1918, Rear Admiral Sims told the senate investigating committee today in presenting documentary evidence in support of his charges of delay against the department.

The officer read to the committee recommendations he had made to the department immediately upon his arrival in London in 1917.

A cablegram sent late in April, 1917, said the critical area where the war would be won or lost was in the eastern Atlantic at the focus of all lines of ocean communication to England and France.

Admiral Sims told the committee that, although he repeatedly urged that every destroyer and smaller craft that could be sent to sea be dispatched immediately to this area, his recommendation was not complied with until about six months later.

He also recommended, he said, that two divisions of the American dreadnaughts be sent to the base at Brest to guard against raids in the English channel by German cruiser forces, but this recommendation was entirely disregarded.

Failure of the department to throw the full force of the navy into the struggle, he said, resulted in the unnecessary loss of 1,500,000 tons of shipping by submarine attack in 1917, and 1,000,000 tons in 1918.

"If the tonnage lost in 1917 had been saved by the prompt co-operation of the navy," he said, "America could have had a million men in France at the beginning of 1918, instead of 300,000."

Admiral Sims said the German offensive of 1918 was due to the failure of the German submarine campaign and that to all probability it never would have been undertaken and the morale of the German people would have broken if the American troops had been more promptly despatched to France. He estimated on the basis of what happened when the American forces did arrive that that victory could have been achieved by July, 1918, if the tonnage had been preserved.

Rear Admiral Sims yesterday told the senate committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war, that the failure of the navy department to act promptly on recommendations and to place the country's entire naval resources at the disposal of the allies within six months after the United States entered the war prolonged the struggle for at least four months. He added that it unnecessarily jeopardized the outcome.

Declaring that 3,000 lives were lost and $100,000,000 spent every day of the war, the admiral said the conclusions from his statement were obvious.

Admiral Sims said his criticisms were directed at the navy's work in 1917 and "had nothing to do with the magnificent way the navy functioned in 1918 after it really got into the war."

The navy, he said, was not properly prepared in April, 1917, and the administrative machinery was cumbersome and inefficient. He declared that his statements constituted "an attack" on any one and characterized as "vindictive" statements that he was attacking civilian control of the navy department, which, he said, was essential.

"At the end of my career, I had nothing to gain and all to lose," said Admiral Sims. He wished to be right in the eyes of the country and to refute widespread criticisms that he was "throwing mud at the navy." Admiral Sims declared, he said, he raised no question of the efficiency of the navy's participation in the war viewed in its entirety and without regard to the time element and was unable to adequately express his admiration for the navy's performance in the war "insofar as the machinery that controlled it permitted."

THREE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

MIAMI, Fla., March 10.—Maxwell Blanchard, of Chicago, pilot, and Charles Sims, of New York, and Kenneth Early, of West Clair, New Jersey, mechanics, were killed last night when a three-seated aeromarine machine crashed to earth near Hillsborough light, 25 miles north of Miami. The cause of the accident has not been determined.

DEATH PENALTY FOR WIFE'S MURDER. CLEVELAND, O., March 10.—Common Pleas Judge Phillips this morning sentenced Joseph Delt, found guilty of killing his 14-year-old bride, to be executed on June 23. The court ordered a motion for a new trial.

Mrs. Estelle V. Collier.

Mrs. Estelle V. Collier of Salt Lake City, Utah, who has been appointed collector of customs for Idaho and Utah, is the first American woman to hold such a position. She was named by President Wilson over a field of prominent women. Mrs. Collier is prominent in Utah, being chairman of the Democratic women's state committee. She is a native of the state and the mother of four children, the youngest being fourteen years old. Her husband is a mining engineer.

TREATY FIGHT IN SENATE IN FINAL STAGE

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The peace treaty ratification fight in the senate entered its final and most bitterly contested phase today, with Article 10 and the reservations thereto the unfinished business until disposed of.

While debate on the much disputed section of the League of Nations' covenant is in progress, negotiations looking to a compromise on the Republican reservations will be continued, though both sides frankly are without much hope that an agreement will be effected. Several Republican leaders declared a substitute reservation yesterday for which they said they obtained the support of 28 Democrats, but even that number is from two to six short of the minority votes needed by the majority to ratify the treaty carrying qualifications, which President Wilson has declared out of the "very heart" from the pact.

The reservation voting power in the league, declaring that the United States declines to be bound by decisions to which congress has not assented until voting power is made equal, was re-adopted yesterday 57 to 20.

ARTICLE 10

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—Here is Article 10, on which the fate of the peace treaty again is suspended—just two compact sentences set in the midst of an eighty thousand word document:

The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league. In case of any such aggression, the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled.

WHISKEY HOLDUP

BALTIMORE, MD., March 10.—A party of men entered the Mount Vernon distillery here early today, bound and gagged the government agent and two watchmen in charge of the plant and hauled away between 40 and 50 barrels of whiskey, worth at government valuation, about $25,000. The three men said the robbers were all masked and that the whiskey was taken away on three or four automobile trucks.

Test Suit Filed Against Trade Commission

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—Suit to test the powers of the federal trade commission was instituted today in the supreme court of the District of Columbia by the Marine Coal Company, of Columbus, the first of several legal actions planned by the National Coal Association to determine how far the commission may go in requiring private corporations to furnish information of their business.

An official announcement of the association said that the suits were started in a friendly spirit and in no way constitute an attack on the commission. Believing that the commission has exceeded its authority in requiring statistical reports in the form and manner prescribed, the association has gone into court to act judicially the extent to which basic industries are subject to control by the government through the commission. It was said that the association had every reason to believe that the commission would not be unwilling to have the question placed before the courts.

The action instituted today took the form of a request for an injunction to restrain the commission from requiring monthly reports showing costs, income and tonnage, and an annual report of financial condition. It was requested that the commission issue formal instructions for the preparation of the reports which effect prescribed a system of accounting for coal mining operations differing substantially from those commonly in use. Existing accounting methods it was said have been developed to meet the requirements of the revenue law and the treasury department regulations.

An injunction was requested on three grounds that the order of the commission requiring the reports exceeded the authority vested in the commission by congress that if congress gave the commission authority to require such reports the act is unconstitutional and that any power vested in the commission to require such reports was transferred to the executive administration by presidential order.

These statistics are right up to the minute, having been tabulated from the questionnaires sent out widely throughout the state ten days ago.

The value of land with buildings ranges from $25 in Clinton county to $225 in Cuyahoga county. In 1913 the average value of land in Clinton was $10 per acre and in Cuyahoga county $205. The average value of land without improvements has increased from $3 in 1910 to $36 in 1919, or 51 percent. The total value of farm land with buildings in 1910 was $1,664,000,000. The total estimated value of farm land with buildings at the present time is estimated at $3,141,000,000.

The report also says that 19 percent or 10,343,000 bushels of last year's wheat crop is still on Ohio farms; 28 percent or 61,864,000 bushels of the 1919 corn crop and 35 percent or about 25,000,000 bushels of the 1919 oats crop. Shortage of labor and bad weather have delayed husking of corn, much of which is still in the fields.

WOOD AND HOOVER ARE FAVORITES

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 10.—Delated returns from yesterday's presidential primaries were coming in today. They were from small towns and did not add greatly to last night's totals, which showed a solid Republican delegation pledged to General Wood, and a Democratic delegation generally regarded as favorable to the candidacy of Herbert Hoover, and including three district delegates pledged for him.

The vote was very light, apparently representing hardly a fourth of the voting population of the state. Many towns postponed their town meetings because of snowdrifted highways and in other county districts where meetings were held only a small proportion of the voters turned out.

AMERICAN FREED BY VILLA BAND

EL PASO, TEXAS, March 10.—Joseph Williams, of El Paso, an employee of the American Smelting & Refining Company, captured and held for ransom by Francisco Villa, when the bandit wrecked a train on the Mexican Central Railroad Thursday, last, has been freed, according to a telegram from Williams to his employers received today.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—James M. Arthur, manager of the Mexican Consolidated Mining Company, has not been kidnapped by Mexican bandits, but is safe near Nogales, Mexico, the American consul there reported today to the state department.

Mrs. Arthur, who is in Nogales, Arizona, telegraphed her father, F. E. Avery, at Columbus, Ohio, yesterday, saying that her husband needed $2,000 and this was said to have led to the reports that he had been kidnapped.

HOUSTON, March 10.—Pat Foley, employee of the Magnolia Petroleum Co., has been murdered by Mexican bandits.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Negotiations looking toward the working out of a new wage agreement for anthracite coal miners to become effective April 1, will be started here tomorrow by a sub-committee of operators and miners. There are eight men on the committee, four miners and four operators, all of whom have had practical experience in the mining of hard coal.

The general committee of operators and miners, which named the sub-committee yesterday, adjourned to meet when the sub-committee is ready to make a report.

What Is The Matter With That Child?

When Children Grow Pale and Listless Their Blood May Be Weak
PEPTO-MANGAN MAKES RED BLOOD

Sold By Druggists in Liquid and Tablet Form—Both of Same Medicinal Quality

When your child loses color, acts and talks without spirit, and does not play like other children, act quickly.

If the condition is not a deep-seated disease but merely due to poor blood, give Pepto-Mangan. Guide's Pepto-Mangan is just the tonic for pale, thin children whose blood needs rebuilding. It is a pleasant-tasting, simple combination of exactly the ingredients that increase and enrich the blood.

Beneficial results show almost at once in brighter eyes, blooming cheeks, a sprightly step, and the whole system made more vigorous.

Pepto-Mangan is obtainable in liquid or tablet form, whichever proves most convenient. Both forms possess identical medicinal qualities.

There is but one genuine Pepto-Mangan and that is "Guide's." Ask your druggist for "Guide's" and look for the name "Guide's" on the package. If it is not there, it is not Pepto-Mangan.—Advertisement.

DECIDE NOT TO STRIKE

CHICAGO, March 10.—There will be no strike by the 275,000 railroad maintenance men represented in a national meeting here, J. H. Malloy, a grand vice-president, said today.

The grand lodge heads voted to abide by the decision of their president and executive board to give the Esch-Cummins rail bill a trial and to try for better wages by peaceful methods, before resorting to a walk-out. The decision was reached today after Malloy, who is the Washington representative of the Brotherhood, spent most of yesterday in a history of the negotiations between the maintenance men and the government.

A committee was appointed to prepare the case of the Brotherhood so that it may be presented before the wage adjustment board, provided for in the Esch-Cummins bill.

Woman Says First Bottle of Vola-Tonic Brought Big Benefits

Couldn't Get Back Strength After Flu

Full of Life and Energy Since She Took Vola-Tonic

"After taking the first bottle of Vola-Tonic I could see a big change in my condition and now I am much improved," said Mrs. Mary Shires, 624 West Seventh street, Cincinnati, O. "Last winter I had influenza and it left me weakened and run down all over. It seemed like I couldn't get back my strength. My appetite was so poor that I couldn't eat much of anything at all and I lost flesh rapidly as a result.

"My nerves were all out of order, too. I couldn't stand the least excitement.

"Vola-Tonic was recommended so highly that I started taking it and, as I said, I could see a big improvement after taking the first bottle.

"My appetite has come back so good now that I am eating real meals again and as a result I am gaining strength. I'm full of life and energy now and in short, I am a different woman in every way.

"My nerves are in much better condition and I sleep soundly nights and get up mornings feeling refreshed."

Vola-Tonic, "Builder of Strength," has helped thousands of weakened, run down men and women and it will do for YOU what it has done for others. Get a bottle—TODAY—at Fisher & Stretch's, A. W. united today. When the body was found in a stall in a horse stable February 6th, may have been murdered, local county officials to have the body examined. When the body was found by his 17 year old son Layton it was believed the father had been kicked by a horse.

Arrest of young Devault on a charge of incontinuity and his subsequent action, officials say, prompted them to start the investigation of his father's death. The boy was taken to watch the process of examining the body.

Though prints of horse shoes were on the father's dead body investigation has revealed that the horse supposed to have done the kicking wore no shoes.

Following exhumation of the body, officials were said to have expressed the opinion that the victim was killed with a hatchet.

Is Granted Divorce
 The Esquire of local interest Tuesday said:

Alleging her husband's "other wife" lived only four squares from their residence in Portsmouth and that he was convicted of bigamy, Mrs. Nora Heyot, Findlay street, was granted a divorce yesterday, from August Heyot, who, it is alleged, is now in the Ohio Penitentiary. Mrs. Heyot said she lived four squares from her husband's first wife and four children for five months before she learned of his alleged previous marriage. They were married in Portsmouth, February 5, 1918, at which time she said her husband already was married to Mrs. Susan W. Heyot, Portsmouth, Ohio.

There is, we believe in simply case after case, a deeper reason for the selection of the Dort than the merit of the car.

True, the well-known excellence of the Dort in performance and the fact that it is known to operate at a measurably lower cost per mile are unquestionably strong influences in the purchase.

But we like to think that aside and apart from these reasons the determining factor in the decision is a profound faith in the Dort Company.

The truth of the matter is that the name Dort has become inseparably associated in the minds of people with deep-seated integrity and careful skill in manufacture.

Each added Dort that goes into use serves not only to provide fresh evidence as to the quality of the car but also to emphasize anew the high ideals of the company that builds it.

First National Boasts Of Fine Brood Of Chicks

George Koerner, superintendent of the First National Bank building finds his time pretty well occupied these days in guarding the one hundred and fifty Rhode Island Red and Leghorn chicks hatched in the basement of the big building recently. So far, but five casualties among the chicks have been reported and the entire brood is doing nicely under the watchful eyes of Mr. Koerner, who sees to it that the pretty stenographers employed in the building keep hands off. The hatch West Side is casting envious eyes upon has established a record, for out of 178 the brood.

Wards His Children
A suit out of the ordinary was instituted in the Court of Common Pleas by Harvey Porter through his attorney, Evan E. Enbanks. He asks for a writ to have possession of a brick house on the N. & W. of his two daughters. Freda aged two years, and Ruth two months, from George and Margaret Walton and William and Patty Geary. The two first named were the parents of Mrs. Porter, who died a few days ago, and Mrs. Geary was the sister of Mrs. Porter, local agents.

Porter served in France and his wife lived during his absence with her parents. They were allowed for the child's best interest, and he also made a widow allowance. The second child was born at the home of her grandparents. After the mother's death possession of the children was refused, hence the petition for a writ. The case will be heard March 15.

The Ruggles Divorce
Mrs. Verdie Ruggles was granted a divorce March 8 from her husband, Thomas Ruggles on the ground of neglect. She was also given possession of the three children, Paul, 13; Anna, 10, and Ray 6. The parties were married February 12, 1901. A. L. Jacobs was attorney for the plaintiff.

Every grocer everywhere sells Kellogg's every day

ATTENDANCE AND INTEREST GROW

Last night's attendance at the evangelistic services at Franklin Avenue M. E. church was an improvement over the night before, and is indicative of an increasing interest in the campaign for souls. Rev. Chas. E. Leveringhaus of Wheeling, W. Va., who is doing the preaching, presented a foretold and spirit-filled sermon, using as his text these words: "Hea Can Two Walk Together, except They Be Agreed?" It was a splendid plea for a readiness to come into agreement with God and His plans for us in salvation, in order that we may have the joy of His constant presence.

At the close of the sermon a short altar service was held, participated in by a goodly number who are praying definitely for definite souls and their delicate needs.

The singing was good, a duet by Rev. Leveringhaus and Rev. Marting

LAKE ERIE TO OHIO RIVER WATERWAY TO BE DISCUSSED AT C. OF C. BANQUET

Tomorrow night in the dining room of the United Brethren church, the Chamber of Commerce will hold the monthly Forum Supper, discussing the subject, "The Sandusky-Portsmouth Waterway." Professor C. E. Sherman, dean of the College of Engineering of Ohio State University will make the address of the evening and Ed T. Reed will be the chairman. Prof. Sherman is the man who first discovered the advisability of using this route for the canal.

The Chamber of Commerce is now all set in the new quarters on Gallia street and the manager, J. B. Willes, stated Wednesday morning that plans were being made for a house warming to take place next week. The exact date has not been set, but will be announced in the near future.

The new offices are "Sprung" from the mill in front and the stenographers offices to the Sixth street door. In between these two the manager Willes' private office, W. S. Harris' corner, a director's room and the space which will soon be occupied by a "made in Portsmouth" exhibit.

Government Standards

All Aladdin Aluminum cooking utensils have actual capacities—they are made according to government standards. For example, a 2 quart sauce pan holds exactly 2 quarts. You can use Aladdin utensils for accurate measuring.

Brighten your kitchen and lighten your work with silver-shining Aladdin Aluminum. Sauce pans have double lips for both left and right hand pouring—all inside corners are rounded and easy to clean—no chipped edges keep balls cool—handles are rounded and comfortable to hold—shapes are as pleasing and as practical as you would design them yourself.

Look for the Aladdin name and quality mark stamp on the bottom of every Aladdin Aluminum utensil. Come in and let us show you these superior Aladdin features.

Thurlow Funeral Will Be Held In Masonic Temple

Tomorrow afternoon the first funeral service to be held from the Masonic lodge room will be held at two o'clock. The last rites of David Thurlow, who died in Pittsburgh Monday will be held at this hour. The public is invited.

The body will arrive here tonight at 7:15, coming by the way of Columbus. On arrival here the remains will be taken to the home of Mrs. Christine Likens, 513 Eighth street. Mrs. Likens is a sister of Mrs. Thurlow.

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, curling, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will ruin your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to wash or rub it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary quack arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single speck and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and scaling of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

To Receive Closed Cars

E. O. Ruhlman, local agent for the Chamber and Cleveland machines has returned from Cincinnati, where he looked after the shipment of two handsome closed cars, which will arrive in a few days.

Thursday Is Pay Day

Thursday will be pay day with the thousands of employees of the Widener-Glosser company. The plant is working steadily in all departments.

Will Merge Papers

LOGANSPORT, IND., March 10.—With the issue of March 17, both the Pharos-Reporter and the Tribune will cease as separate publications and the Pharos-Tribune will appear as one. The Pharos-Tribune will be published by a new company, the Pharos-Tribune Company. The advertising rate will be 3 1/2 cents per line flat. The paper will be represented in the national advertising field by the Franklin P. Adams Company.

TALKS TO STUDENTS

Manager J. B. Willes of the Chamber of Commerce talked to the high school students during their chapel hour this morning. He took for his theme "The High School Student's Place in the Community."

During his remarks he laid stress on how the citizenship made the city instead of its industries. He told of the workings of the modern Chamber of Commerce, how 250 members were on various committees and how this number handled the work instead of a small group of directors. Along this line he compared the former Board of Trade with the larger organization, the Chamber of Commerce. "If 10,000 more homes are built in Portsmouth and vicinity within the next five years Portsmouth will have an additional 50,000 population," Mr. Willes said.

At the close of the address the four class presidents suggested that each class take out a membership, while a like suggestion was made for the high school faculty. When these are taken

MOST EYES ARE OVERWORKED.

Just about everyone's eyes these days are subjected to strain. If the eyes are sound, they are overworked. If they are abnormal, they are strained whether they are worked or not. Two classes of people (and there are thousands in each class) need our services—those who do much near eye work, and those whose eyes are naturally not as they should be. We invite both classes.

CHILDREN'S DAYS

These are the days when mothers are getting their children ready for spring. Likewise, these are the days Anderson's Store is lending its assistance. We are taking this entire week in which to feature garments for children—the new wearing apparel in all its attractiveness and moderateness of price.

We have found that it has paid to take an interest in apparel for children. We find that mothers appreciate it and think more of our store for specializing in children's wear as we do. That is why we have a special children's store and that is why, a little later on in the summer we are going to have a new and much larger children's store. But that's another story. Right now we are featuring spring garments of every sort for children. We are giving more room to them than we usually do so that you may view more of the styles and that selecting may be the easier.

Bring the Children in This Week and Fit Them Out For Spring

Saturday Will Be "Doll-Naming Day" A Big Handsome $10.00 Doll Free

Now, girls, here is your chance: On Saturday, the last day of our Children's Week, we are going to conduct a doll-naming contest. And the girl who suggests the best name for this big doll, will receive it absolutely free of cost. Come and see the doll now in our window and then think up a nice name for it.

Here Are the Rules of the Contest

Any girl up to 14 years of age may enter. Any girl may suggest one or two names. No names will be received by mail or by phone. All names must be entered in person by the contestant. And unless she is accompanied by an adult, each girl is required to bring her own doll with her when she enters a name in the contest. Bring your doll with you, leave a name for the big ten-dollar doll and then we'll see who gets the handsome prize.

We might say that the name selected will be used in the future to advertise dolls of this character for sale in our toy store.

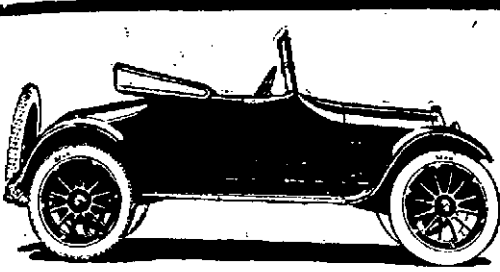

A committee will pass upon all names entered and announcement of the winner will be made early the following week.

Don't forget the rules. Saturday only. Each girl, unless accompanied by an adult MUST bring a doll with her. Names will be received in our children's department, second floor.

Every Oakland Feature Serves the Practical Purpose of Better Cheaper Transportation

In the Oakland Sensible Six you buy a car which is with one exception, the largest production Six on the market, and a car without an equal in point of advanced design, practical features, and true economy in first cost, operation charges and upkeep expense.

Sturdiness, sturdiness, endurance—these are the outstanding characteristics of the mechanical structure of the Oakland Sensible Six. The chassis is a remarkable example of scientific engineering and high-grade construction—the light weight, high power, perfect balance and performance qualities of the Oakland being unapproached by any other type of car built.

The 115-inch wheelbase and long semi-elliptic springs, together with the over-capacity 32 by 1 inch tires, and low center of gravity, make the Oakland very comfortable to ride in and easy to drive and handle. The special frame design, 0.12 inches deep and strongly reinforced by large cross members, gives rigid support to the body which sits directly on the frame members, a valuable feature of Oakland construction.

Principal court 10 days ago on a charge of stealing coal from N. & W. cars, was released from custody today on the expiration of his sentence.

Ward of Court
Teddy Sowards, aged 14 years, Friendship youth, arrested yesterday and brought to the county jail by Constable Jasper Stanley on a charge of delinquency, was ordered to pay the costs and was made a ward of the court by Judge Gilliland today. The lad was taken into custody for alleged misconduct in the presence of females living at Friendship.

Court Hears Cases
Court of Appeals in session here today after abandoning its plan to leave the city today heard a number of cases which had previously been continued. Among the cases submitted to the court today were the appeal case of Charles E. Brewer against P. Kinner, Hall and the Crowe and Mustard with contest cases both up on error. In the Brewer-Hall case suit was brought for specific performance of contract in connection with a real estate deal involving the transfer of the property at 408-410 Court street, which the plaintiff claims to have bought through W. W. Bauer, real estate agent, last June. The defendant won in the lower court.

The will of John Crowe, Irish township farmer, was held invalid by a jury which heard the case in Common Pleas court and the will of Madison Munster, Olney farmer was sustained.

In the same court.
The case of Walter Finney against Cora E. Finney and State of Ohio against Clifford E. Allen were submitted to the court yesterday afternoon. The Finney case is a proceeding in error from the action of Judge R. L. Griffith in granting and setting aside a decree for divorce granted the plaintiff last November. Allen was convicted by a jury in Common Pleas court recently on a charge of burglary in connection with the theft of cigars from railroad cars in the N. & W. yards in April 1918. His counsel, Judge Blair argued that the verdict of the jury was against the weight of evidence and that his client ought to be granted a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

Face Serious Charge
On warrants issued from Squire McManes' court, Alva Ashley, steelworker and Mrs. Rosa Osborn, both of New Boston, were taken into custody last night by Constable George Morgan and taken before the magistrate to answer to statutory charges preferred against them. The defendants were released on their own recognizance pending their hearing which was set for Saturday. Ashley was recently named as correspondent in a divorce suit filed by J. C. Osborn against his wife in Common Pleas court charging her with infidelity.

Convicted on Girl's Testimony
A sentence of 90 days in jail and a fine of $100 was imposed by Judge Gilliland against John Henderson, age 35 years, seaman, following his conviction in probate court today on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Elizabeth Verdine, aged 15 years. The girl told the court a shocking story of her immoral associations with the accused covering a period of two years and her statement was partially substantiated by the defendant's wife, Alonzo Henderson, who conducts a grocery on Kinnery street and with whom the girl made her home. The Verdine girl, who was spirited out of town a few days ago by Henderson, and later found at Huntington, was made a ward of the court. The accused was defended by Attorney Theo. K. Funk.

No Waste Motion Here
The packing business is noted for the elimination of waste in manufacturing.
Swift & Company is equally effective in saving waste in the distribution of products.
From ranch or farm to your meat dealer there is no loss of time, money, material, or motion.
Four hundred branch sales houses in large cities and towns, hundreds of regular refrigerator car routes reaching small towns, all directed by wire from a central point, bring meat products from our packing plants located in producing areas, to retailers in all parts of the country in the best possible condition, in the least possible time, at the least possible cost, and over the most direct route.
The total expense, for manufacture, freight, and selling direct to the retailer, is less than three cents per pound on all meat sold.
Our profit from all sources is only a fraction of a cent per pound.
Competition compels this close-cut saving. Large volume of business, a well-balanced, nation-wide organization, and expert attention to details by men who know, make it possible.
We are in your service—at least expense and profit.

No Waste Motion Here

The packing business is noted for the elimination of waste in manufacturing.

Swift & Company is equally effective in saving waste in the distribution of products.

From ranch or farm to your meat dealer there is no loss of time, money, material, or motion.

Four hundred branch sales houses in large cities and towns, hundreds of regular refrigerator car routes reaching small towns, all directed by wire from a central point, bring meat products from our packing plants located in producing areas, to retailers in all parts of the country in the best possible condition, in the least possible time, at the least possible cost, and over the most direct route.

The total expense, for manufacture, freight, and selling direct to the retailer, is less than three cents per pound on all meat sold.

Our profit from all sources is only a fraction of a cent per pound.

We are in your service—at least expense and profit.

Send for our 1920 Year Book and get the facts about our business. Address: Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Illinois.

BROWN COUNTY CASE

Court of Appeals in session here today after hearing arguments of attorneys on an application for a stay of execution of sentence in the case of A. N. Huck, prominent farmer, convicted in the Brown county common pleas court of the crime of riot, took the matter under advisement.

The alleged riot occurred on the night of the election last November, and grew out of a claim of fraud in count of the ballots cast in Eagle township on a school issue. It appears a pitched battle took place at the polling place between the rival factions and Huck and four others were later indicted.

Huck, the first to be brought to trial, was convicted after an exciting trial lasting eight days. Recently Judge James W. Tarrill after overruling a motion for a new trial, sentenced the defendant to jail for five days, besides paying him $100.

Attorneys, Eli Speldis, Batavia, and E. D. Stivers, Sardonia, who appeared in support of the motion contended that there were many irregularities and errors in the trial and urged the court to suspend the sentence until a petition in error can be prepared and the case heard on its merits.

Prosecutor Walter Basy and Attorney O. F. Young, both of Georgetown, who opposed the application, declared that the outcome of the trial was a case of disappointment to the defense and predicted that worse things than the riot, which he pictured as the reverse from a Sunday school picnic, would happen in Eagle township, if the courts did not take a hand in an effort to end the season of turmoil there. Congressman C. C. Kearnes was associated with the defense in the trial of the case.

The attorneys returned home this afternoon.

TREATY FIGHT ENTERS FINAL STAGE IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The treaty ratification fight in the senate entered its final stage today, with the majority of the republicans looking to a compromise on the reservations which the republicans demand. Several republican leaders declared a substitute reservation yesterday for which they said they could secure the support of 25 Democrats, but even that number is from two to six short of the majority votes needed by the majority to ratify the treaty. President Wilson has declared out the "very heart" from the past.

While debate on the much disputed section of the League of Nations covenant is in progress, negotiations looking to a compromise on the reservations will be continued, though both sides frankly are without much hope that an agreement will be effected. Several republican leaders declared a substitute reservation yesterday for which they said they could secure the support of 25 Democrats, but even that number is from two to six short of the majority votes needed by the majority to ratify the treaty. President Wilson has declared out the "very heart" from the past.

The reservation voting power in the senate, declaring that the United States declines to be bound by decisions until voting power is made equal, was resubmitted yesterday 57 to 29.

Some Democrats favoring reservations arranged for a conference today in the office of Senator Owens, of Oklahoma, in an effort to expedite ratification.

"Navy's Delay Prolonged War"-Sims

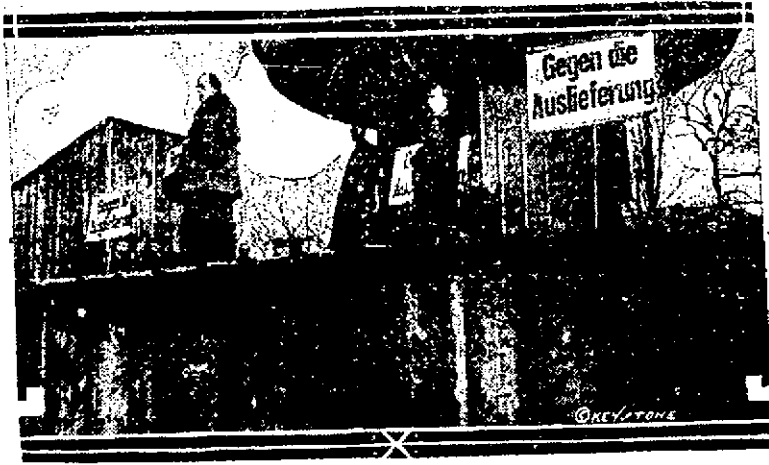

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—Rear Admiral Sims today told the senate committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war that the failure of the navy department to act promptly on recommendations and to place the country's entire naval resources at the disposal of the allies within six months after the United States entered the war prolonged the struggle for at least four months. He added that it was not until the navy was able to adequately express its admiration for the navy's performance in the war "insofar as the machinery that controlled it permitted."

"I am at the end of my career, and have nothing to gain and all to lose," said Admiral Sims. He wished to be set right in the eyes of the country and to refute widespread criticisms that he was "throwing mud at the navy," Admiral Sims declared. He said he raised no question of the efficiency of the navy's participation in the war viewed in its entirety and without regard to the time element and was unable to adequately express his admiration for the navy's performance in the war "insofar as the machinery that controlled it permitted."

Admiral Sims said his criticisms were directed at the navy's work in 1917 and "had nothing to do with the magnificent way the navy functioned in 1918 after it really got into the war."

"The navy, he said, was not properly prepared in April, 1917, and the administrative machinery was cumbersome and inefficient. He denied that his statements constituted "an attack" on any one and characterized as "vilifying" statements that he was attacking civilian control of the navy department, which, he said, was essential.

GERMANY PROTESTS AGAINST DELIVERANCE OF WAR CRIMINALS

Speakers at Munich mass meeting protesting against deliverance of German war criminals. As soon as the allies presented their demands for the delivery of about 800 Germans, including such national heroes as Hindenburg, Ludendorff, Blomberg, etc., great demonstrations were held all over Germany in protest against the compliance of Germany to the allies' demands. One of the mass meetings was held at Munich, and the photo shows the speakers in action. The signs read: "Against the Deliverance." Apparently the protests were successful in inducing the allies to back down.

READY TO VOTE ON SUFFRAGE

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Mar. 10.—State Senator Jesse A. Bloch, of Wheeling, completed his 3,000 mile hurried trip across the continent from California to Charleston early this morning in order to vote on the federal suffrage amendment in the senate of the West Virginia legislature.

Senate forces favoring ratification anticipated immediate action upon the amendment when it convened this afternoon, and with Senator Bloch's vote hoped to break the deadlock which has existed between pro and anti-suffrage forces since the special session of the legislature was called.

Anti-suffragists, according to their leaders' declarations last night, were fighting to defeat ratification and there was some talk among them of protesting the seat of Senator Raymond Dodson, who is listed on the side of the suffragists. Opponents of ratification claim that Senator Dodson, while representing Spencer, Roane county, had his residence and business in Charleston. His supporters assert that his official residence is at Spencer.

WOOD AND HOOVER ARE FAVORITES

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 10.—Related returns from yesterday's presidential primaries were coming in today. They were from small towns and did not add greatly to last night's totals, which showed a solid republican delegation pledged to General Wood, and a Democratic delegation generally regarded as favorable to the candidacy of Herbert Hoover, including three district delegates pledged for him.

The vote was very light, apparently representing barely a fourth of the voting population of the state. Many towns postponed their town meetings because of snow-filled highways and in other country districts where meetings were held, only a small proportion of the voters turned out.

WOOD AND HOOVER ARE FAVORITES

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—Suits to test the powers of the federal trade commission was instituted today in the supreme court of the District of Columbia by the Maynard Coal Company, of Columbus, the first of several legal actions planned by the National Coal Association to determine how far the commission may go in requiring private corporations to furnish information of their business.

An official announcement of the association said that the suits were started in a friendly spirit and in no way constitute an attack on the commission. Believing that the commission has exceeded its authority in requiring statistical reports in the form and manner prescribed, the association has gone into court to set the judicially the extent to which basic industries are subject to control by the government through the commission.

It was said that the association had every reason to believe that the commission would not be unwilling to have the question placed before the courts.

The action instituted today took the form of a request for an injunction to restrain the commission from requiring monthly reports showing costs, income and tonnage, and an annual report of financial condition. It was expected that the commission would force its suits.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 10.—Bulls and oils furnished the constructive features at the irregular opening of today's stock market, gaining 1 to 2 points. They were accompanied by stocks, equipments and shippings, while motors and other subsidiaries tumbled downward with leather and textiles. The demand for mills again centered in investment shares, notably Reading and the Pacific group, but soon extended to secondary issues, Rock Island and Texas Pacific displaying special activity. Foreign exchange, particularly the London rate, was substantially higher.

SAYS GIRL KILLED SELF AND WAS NOT MURDERED

LOS ANGELES, CAL., March 10.—Freda Lesser, for whose murder Harry S. New is serving a prison sentence of from ten years to life, killed herself, said an affidavit by Miss Edna Clancy, New's half sister, made public today. The document set forth what Miss Clancy termed the truth told by New for the first time. Its appearance followed by a few hours the filing in appellate court here of a petition to obtain a new trial for New.

"The truth," according to the affidavit, is that Miss Lesser shot and killed herself because New told her he was not going to leave anything more to do with her after she had told him she had been unfaithful as his affianced wife. Miss Clancy declared New asserted he made the statement because he believed he would die within a month in the San Quentin prison jailment, where he was assigned to work, and he wanted the truth known before he died.

Miss Lesser was shot to death while automobile riding with New. He drove her body to the police station and said that he had killed her.

MAY GIVE KY. WOMEN VOTE

FRANKFORT, KY., March 10.—Women of Kentucky would be permitted to vote in the 1920 presidential election, regardless of whether the federal woman suffrage amendment is operative by then, under provisions of a bill which passed the lower house of the legislature last night. A similar bill is pending in the senate.

Representative Lazares, Republican floor leader, is author of the house measure, which is viewed as a compromise in the light of "state right" suffragists.

WEDDING OF A VANDERBILT SCION IS BIG SOCIAL EVENT IN ENGLAND

The Marquis of Elandford and his bride leaving St. Margaret's church after the ceremony.

A big social event in London was the recent marriage of the Marquis of Elandford to the daughter of the Duke of Devonshire. The wedding was attended by King George and Queen Mary and practically all the royalty of England. The Duchess of Marlborough was Miss Constance Vanderbilt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt of New York.

NEW YORK, Mar. 10.—In 1919, a successful season for the minor league baseball clubs throughout the United States and Canada, according to John H. Winters, of the National Association, and a few days ago it is to have the revival of the minor leagues in the various sections of this country and Canada were never better. The people are turning to amusements and outdoor sports for recreation in greater numbers than ever before. Last year the minor league clubs enjoyed their most prosperous season in five years. This era of prosperity extended to all leagues in every section of the country and to the far off Western Canada League in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. The minor leagues have flourished under the National Association government in preference to the history of baseball.

According to the annual report read at the convention of minor league clubs, which was held at Springfield, Mass., last November 15 leagues comprising nearly 2,000 players began the 1919 season and 13 of these finished their official playing schedules. The International Northwestern League closed down on June 7, but the new England League paid its players in full for the first time of the schedule which ended September 1. Although the league closed its season on August 2.

This year the present winning leagues of 1919, Pacific Coast, American Association, International Western, Southern, Eastern, Association, Texas, Michigan-Ontario, Three I, South Atlantic, Western Canada, Virginia and Florida State are all ready for the coming season. The American Association, Southern, and Three I are the New England and reorganized North Western organizations and in addition there is great activity in reviving or reorganizing others with every promise of many of them being ready to begin play early in May. Among these are the Blue Ridge, Conn. W. C. Conn. States, Illinois-Michigan Central, American, California-Kansas, New York, Georgia, Alabama and Nebraska State Leagues.

Astronomical Mystery.

The stellar universe has a background of pearls white, which always finds the field of a telescope with a faint luminosity, and astronomers are growing to be whether this luminosity should be made of quantities of stars, or whether the universe is immersed in nebulous matter. In one of these dark fields is Antares, which is compared to be at a vast distance from the earth, and to have several times the mass of our sun.

SLAMS MR. HOOVER

WRITING from Lays, J. L. Robinson makes strenuous objection to the mere suggestion that Herbert Hoover might be the republican candidate for president. "Nix," says J. L., "we don't want him at all. 'The republican party has not run out of men yet. There are a score or two waiting to toss their hats into the ring. And where could they find a better one than our senator, Warren G. Harding? Besides, I think the democrats need Hoover if they expect to get through on the motto system again. He would make a good successor to Wilson. Wilson kept us out of war, and Hoover kept us out of four and sugar. So you democrats are welcome to Hoover and Henry Ford, too."

The Times is a splendid paper, but the clamps on that hot-air bag should be guarded a little closer to prevent another slip, as that was a pretty big blast to come unexpectedly. All right, J. L., if you feel that way about it. For that matter we haven't gone dipping ourselves about nominating a man on either ticket; who isn't real certain just what his political opinions are or to which of the great parties he belongs. But we do have a most grateful remembrance of you; for did not you volunteer to stop on some dark night and tear down one of our beautiful pictures right after the election two years ago, when we set up a lead cry for help in getting the accused things out of sight of the dearly beloved voters who had shown such a lack of appreciation of them?

The fact that we had a real vacation for the first time in six or seven years has excited tremendous interest and not a little envy among our friends in the newspaper game. One wants to know where we stole the money to pay the freight, another opines that we must have blarneyed some good-natured citizen into going on our note, while Dave Taylor, publisher of the Norwood Enterprise, writes us that we sure have more courage to run away from the ordinary man in the game. "The last time I took a vacation," says Dave, "somebody set fire to the town hall, bandits robbed the city bank, the water supply main burst and the office crew either got sick or quit. Aside from this and a few minor happenings, all went well in Norwood, but I haven't taken a vacation since."

Isn't it too bad! Some mean people have started petitions to have a referendum on the latest Reynolds bills to give women a chance to vote at the primaries in April and the presidential election in November. The referendum backers have until April 20 to get the necessary signatures. On the national amendment 33 states out of the necessary 36 have ratified, but if the right of Ohio voters to pass upon ratification is upheld by the supreme court, only 32 have ratified and four more states will be needed to give women the right to vote at the fall election.

"We see," said the man who stands on the First National Bank corner every day in the year, Sundays and holidays included, "where the chorus girls have organized a thrift club and decided to wear unbleached muslin nighties, camisoles, chemises and other lingerie, instead of the siften variety to which they have been accustomed, but what I would like to know is how the dickens is a mere, innocent bystander like myself to know whether or not the dear things are living up to the pledges."

Editor John Corns, of The Ironton Register, is surely going to sleep on the job of whooping it up for Wood for president. Here's Dan Hanna giving up the whole front page of his Cleveland News and Leader to hoisting Wood in a frenzied editorial, while the very best Corns has done to date has been to give Wood honorable mention on the fifth page back. Wake up, Johnnie. You'll never get to boss the mails at that rate.

Probably it is expecting too much, but at least we can cherish the thought that maybe if they would put Mr. Wilson and Mr. Lodge into a six by six room and keep 'em there a couple of days they would at least get to the point where they would not make faces at each other all the time and give the senate a chance to do what it really wants to do—agree upon some kind of a compromise ratification of the peace treaty.

Merchants are planning for "Dress Up Week" next week and the idea is a splendid one. But why not carry the idea further and let the whole town respond to the activities of our wide-awake retailers? Why not clean up the streets and the alleys and why not each individual clean up his own premises? Let each property owner do his part and the net result will be amazing. Dress Up The Town next week. Do not be a laggard, but be up and doing.

Congressman Charlie Kearns has shown himself such an expert in dealing with the voters of male persuasion in this district that we wonder how he'll manage it when it comes to wooing the dear lady voters of the sixth when they put on their Sunday clothes and troop to the polls on election day.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

HER FAMILY HAS ITS HOUR OF REJOICING

The great news broke this morning at the breakfast table. Aunt Cecilia noticed my pale cheeks. She would never have had them for the same reason herself she feels pined. Then another asked me if I had been up to all hours and why I refused to take care of my health and complexion. I felt them all say something, solemnly eating my eggs, and smiling for my cue to spring the glad tidings to them. "Nanny," my small sister, finally wrung it from me, for she piped up: "Della says that Thursday's never got a husband if she doesn't stop fooling so many boys and changing her mind about things so often."

"Is that so, young lady?" said I, blessing Jack at the moment for the triumph that he gave me over the persecutions. "Well, I expect to have a husband in just one month's time, the fact being, in spite of my pale cheeks and many faints."

"Mother promptly dropped her glasses into her plate and Aunt Cecilia gave a little scream—(she would) and said: "Oh, Lindsey, has THIS MAN come into your life at last, dear?" Just as if I were thirty years old and a temptress.

"Yes," I assured her gleefully. "I expect to be Mrs. Jack Martin on the fifth of June if my wedding clothes can be gotten together by that date."

"Poor dear mother came up to me and hugged the very life out of me at this point. "Oh, Lindsey dear, I'm so happy," she said. "Just the man that I wanted, too!"

I smiled at this, though mother did not notice how funny it sounded, she was that excited. "You won't change your mind this time, will you, darling?" For I'll see to it that the wedding dress is ready by the fifth. Dear Jack. How happy he must be and you are indeed a fortunate girl to get such a husband. There are all sorts of girls here that would give their two eyes to have him. And that lovely house in Belmont! Oh, Lindsey dear, you know so little about running a house that I really fear for your future peace of mind where domestic details are concerned.

I assured mother that I would manage somehow and that Jack wasn't at all fussy and was so glad to get me that he never, never would dream of complaining at anything I might make. Mother hid her face in her napkin at this remark. It irritated me considerably. Why do grown-ups smile at the petty illusions of youth? I was the perfect picture of a girl of broad acres, the table, shining at my nose, and just to show up, I suspect that I could not impress her with my new importance. Girls of ten are so arrogant.

It was a happy family breakfast after all, and we sat over it till the telephone, ringing persistently, brought Jack more vividly before us all in the form of a prospective husband than were words could.

I really felt very important as he cooed to me over the phone in a possessive tone. "Had I sleep, well, was I happy, how had the family taken it?" etc. "Funny how different one behaves when one is engaged, isn't it? Now there's Jack, whom I've known for years, and who up to this morning meant no more, definitely, than any other nice young man that I played around with, talking to me as though we had been together for years and he owned me body and soul."

I, too, have changed in a short space of time. I answer him in a soothing, familiar way, and ask him if he was late for business and all those little things (that are really none of my business yet); yet thrilling to me, and to the listening family in the next room, as the new note in the volume of the engaged girl. That's another family thing come true—that "new" note in the loved ones' voice. Well, I've come up nobly to all their expectations. I feel proud of my new head in the thought that I shall soon be able to break away and run down to see good old Daddy, cut up one of her "comfy" chairs, and make a couple of perfect years. I'll tell her the news and hear her groan of disgust, for Daddy does not believe in matrimony. Wants her career and hoped that I would develop along these lines. She is, in fact, far happier with her parents and her dreams than I ever believed she possibly could be. In my heart of hearts I know that without a mother's authority and lovingly insisted upon my proposed flight to the land of the free, I wonder how I can manage to get my own way and yet keep him happy. An engaged man must be kept happy, according to all the rules of all the friends and relatives.

I was right, of course. Jack did come and the family gathered up to his bosom full force and kept me from all just now. And now I'm bed-ridden. There's more I was kissed and hugged all around, the beautiful diamond adorning, and Jack here worshipping a lady that his life for my sovereignty later on when we have come to our senses.

Mother immediately asked him for a family dinner. We are teased and Jack never took an eye off me. It's really thrilling to be adored for the first time in my life. "The feeling of love is so sweet," the feeling of love is so sweet. "They are very steady and possessive. I suspect that he has a temper—and it sort of makes me curious and to love with him. I'm a very silly girl and a very lucky one. I kiss the world—and Jack."

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

"I shall surely another," thought Billy, as the circus man put the wooden sleds on his cage. "Oh, this is horrible! I feel as if I were buried alive!"

At that minute the horses started up and poor Billy went down on his knees with a sudden jerk.

"How I wish Nanny was here to comfort me," thought Billy. "She was always so patient and cheerful." How like a loan that was for Billy to forget all about Nanny while he was free and having a good time, but the ache in his heart was too strong for him. He was willing to leave her shut up if he could only see her.

After several hours of hard travel they stopped, and Billy knew they must be at the depot, for he heard the engines whistling and the bells ringing, and he was very glad of it, for his knees were all skinned from slipping on the floor from one end of the cage to the other when they went up or down hill, for it was impossible to stand, so he had to lay down and make the best of it.

"I never pitied caged animals before," thought Billy, "but I did not know what they had to endure or I should."

After a great deal of commotion, screaming and fussing on the part of the men outside, Billy's cage was at last on board and the train started. "Nanny!" thought Billy, "aren't they going to give me a drink of water or something fresh and cool to eat? Do they expect me to eat that dried up, tasteless, starchy hay this hot day; and as for the water that got upset the first hill we went up. Oh, dear! and to add to the rest of my troubles I have got a rider in my eye, along with this horrible dust that is blowing in that stuffy little window and I know I am going to be smothered to death. Oh, if Nanny were only here to lick this rider out of my eye! It stings so I wish I had hands instead of feet for some in my life so I could get it out. I wonder if people ever think how inconvenient it is not to have hands some times."

And poor old Billy began to cry softly to himself. It was a good thing he did, for he soon cried the rider out and when his eye stopped watering, he got some of his spunk back again and began to plan some way of getting out of his cage.

At twelve o'clock at night they reached the city and were driven through the silent streets to a vacant lot where all the circus bands were to work. And here I will leave Billy until next morning.

A Dinner Story

Governor Goodrich, of Indiana, said in a discussion of old Christmas customs: "The old customs that have fallen out of use were a little too coarse and brutal for these ultra-refined times. Take, for instance, the old custom of serving a boar's head at the Christmas dinner."

"I know a rich man who thought he'd revive the old custom on Christmas, and accordingly a boar's head formed the dinner's seventh course. When the head was brought in on a great silver platter, a lemon in the month, and the fierce eyes staring glassily straight ahead, the effect was tremendous."

"The rich man, serving slices of the head, came to the turn of his little son. 'Well, Willie, will you have some?' he said. 'Yes, papa,' Willie answered in an awed whisper, 'but please cut me off a piece where it isn't looking.'"

Soothing, Moving, Satisfying
 A bishop asked the minister in a prospective church how he got through the service.

"Well, bishop, the service was soothing, moving and satisfying," was the answer. "How do you mean?" asked the bishop. "Well," replied the minister, "it was soothing, because over half the congregation went to sleep. It was moving, because half of the other half left before I was through. And it must have been satisfying, inasmuch as I wasn't asked to come again."

Oh Horrors!
 "I think the baby has your hair, ma'am," said the new nurse, looking pleasantly at her mistress.

"Gracious!" exclaimed the lady glancing up from her novel. "I'm into the nursery and take it away from her. She will ruin it."

First Maid—(bargaining about a party given the day before by her mistress)—And they all came in thousands and had on the grandest clothes and wore the biggest diamonds.

Neighbor's Maid—And what did they talk about?

First Maid—Us—Life.

New-York - Day - By - Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Mar. 10—
 I am one of the curious
 Who always stand around
 When a crowd gathers
 And for years and years
 I've been fascinated.
 When I saw them,
 Lifting a safe.

I observed
 Three-year-old Agnes was watching
 Her mother remove the peeling from an orange, and suddenly asked, very much concerned, "Mother, won't the poor thing catch cold?"

Too Late, Then
 An insurance man tells this one: "Not long ago there rushed into one of our offices in the south a very excited woman so excited, in fact, that she was out of breath and could speak only with difficulty."

"What's the trouble?" asked one of the clerks.
 "I want a policy at once—at once," exclaimed the woman, when she had recovered sufficiently to articulate. "Our home is on fire!"

Plenty of Adventure
 Old Captain Postville usually spends his time pottering about in a little sailing boat. Recently he was chatting with a friend on the subject of his hobby.

"I think I'll get a motor boat next summer," he said.
 "What for?" asked his friend. "I thought you were so keen on sailing." "Well, I am; but motorboats are so much more exciting," replied the hardy old chap. "In a sailing boat you can only drown, while in the other you can be drowned, burned by a petrol explosion, or even starved to death if your engine breaks down ten miles from land."

The Proper Thing
 Tommy Duncan, who got rich mingling manganese up Peters Cove, was down to Lexington the other day for the football game and while there he met one of his old teachers.

"Professor," said Tom, "I have made some money and I want to do something for my old college. I don't remember what studies I excelled in, if any."

"In my classes you slept most of the time," said his teacher.
 "Tom," said Tom, "in that case I reckon I'll endow a dormitory."

Form of Legality
 "I think I'll see a lawyer today," said Bazel.
 "Why?" asked Edith.
 "I've proposed to one on Sunday, and I want to see if it's legal."

The Call To Arms
 "You have been on the public streets again, Baxter," said the Judge.
 "I ain't got no home!"

"You knocked Berry Cooklin down and stepped on his face," said the Judge.
 "You talk as if you were proud of it."

"I ain't got no home," said the Judge.
 "You talk as if you were proud of it."

Valueless
 "Friendship doesn't mean no more to some folks," said a man recently, "than a license to borrow money."

Delivers Hudson
 The H. S. Howe Co., local agents, have delivered a new Hudson touring car to A. Helm, of the Portsmouth Dry Goods Company.

With a pulley and rope.
 And you know how it is.
 Something might happen.
 And if it does.
 I want to be there.
 It may take a long time.
 But the law of averages.
 Tells me that some day.
 The rope is going to break.
 And I was watching them.
 The other morning.
 Hoist a safe from the ground.
 To the eighteenth floor.
 And it was a tedious job.
 But I didn't leave them.
 And when it was finished.
 I started to walk on.
 And my neck was so stiff.
 I couldn't look.
 Anywhere but up.
 So I got in a bathtub.
 To take my stiff neck home.
 And then soaked me in it.
 And I couldn't complain.
 Because I couldn't.
 See the taximeter.
 It was too low down.
 For a guy with a stiff neck.
 And going into my home.
 I heard a woman say.
 I stepped over her collar.
 I didn't even see the dog.
 After I took a hot bath.
 And unlatched my neck.
 I felt in my pockets.
 And found that while.
 I was watching the safe.
 Some nasty, mean man.
 Had swiped my scarf pin.
 And it is all right.
 'T was what I deserved.
 But I'll never watch.
 Another safe lifting.
 They're too hard on the neck.
 I'm going to stand around.
 And pick scarf pins.
 It looks like soft stuff.
 From the way they picked mine.

ROBBERS, DISAPPOINTED IN AMOUNT OF LOOT; LEAVE NOTE TO OWNER

Burglars broke into and robbed the office of T. G. Jewett & sons, grain dealers, located at their grain elevator, Fourteenth and Chillicothe streets, last night but the invaders did not secure much loot, a revolver, 35c and a screw driver being the sum total of the property taken, Mr. Jewett said in reporting the robbery to the police this morning.

The burglars were evidently disappointed over their efforts to obtain more valuable property as they left a note behind reading: "Have more junk next time when we come."

This is the second time the place has been broken into within a short time and in an effort to run down the guilty persons, Mr. Jewett secured the New Boston Bloodhounds this morning to trail the thieves.

STAGE REAL FIGHT; TRIO ARRESTED

James E. Turner, aged 31 years, three-cornered fight and the arrest of the trio by the police.

Charles Kountz, aged 27 years, and T. J. Shields, aged 38 years, all colored, involved in a dispute at Shields' confectionery, 1159 Eleventh street, were arrested last night by the Queen City police and their hands were badly disfigured with disorderly conduct.

IS CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

On a warrant issued from the local Municipal court charging embezzlement, a man giving the name of Thomas L. Prather, stock salesman, 41 Gilbert avenue, Cincinnati, was arrested last night by the Queen City police and is held for the local officers.

Chief Joe Distel was advised in a message received this morning.

The complaint was filed by C. B. King photographer at 211 Chillicothe street, and the charge grew out of a deal involving the sale of some stocks.

BOYS TURN BANDITS; TRY TO ROB GROCERY STORE; CAUGHT BY POLICE

Walter Conley aged 10 years and Louis Shafer aged 11 years youths who ran away from the Childrens Home yesterday were taken into custody by the police this morning shortly after one o'clock after they had made an attempt to break into Menke's grocery store at Grant and Hutchins streets.

The lads had smashed a glass in the front door and were preparing to enter the place when the police reached the scene they claim. They explained their strange conduct by declaring that they had decided to turn bandits. The boys are accused with the theft of a sum of money at the Home a few days ago.

C. Of C. Luncheon Today

The Chamber of Commerce at 11:30 today will meet around the weekly luncheon table in the U. B. church and discuss the question of "The Extension of Express Delivery Zones and Better Service."

A. E. Singleton will be chairman of the luncheon and E. N. Meek will lead the discussion.

As this is an important subject, arrangements have been made for a high turnout of members. These luncheons are growing in popularity and many topics looking to the betterment of the city are frankly discussed.

Dress-Up Week Is Near

Keep in mind the opening day of "Dress Up Week" next Tuesday, March 16. That day is to be made a big one in the annals of Portsmouth merchants. The "Dress Up Week" campaign will be carried through from Tuesday until Saturday night, March 20.

For the past few years Portsmouth merchants have observed a "Dress Up Week", which takes the place of the usual Spring or Fall Opening.

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce is now busy making plans for the next week campaign, in which every merchant will be asked to participate.

Plans already announced are that the show windows will be draped next Monday and Tuesday morning.

At a given signal on Tuesday afternoon or evening the windows will be uncovered for the public's inspection, affording an opportunity for learning just what fashion has decreed for the coming season.

Believe Devault Was Killed With Hatchet

CHILICOTHE, O., Mar. 10.—Suspicion that North Devault, Adelphi used today. When the body was found in a still in a horse stable February 28, may have been murdered, Ironton officials to have the body examined. When the body was found by his 17 year old son Layton it was believed the father had been killed by a horse.

Arrest of young Devault on a charge of larceny and his subsequent arrest, officials say, prompted them to start the investigation of his father's death. "The boy was taken to watch the process of raising the body."

Though prints of horse shoes were on the father's dead body, investigation has revealed that the horse supposed to have done the killing were on place.

Following examination of the body, officials were said to have expressed the opinion that the victim was killed with a hatchet.

The recreational room is open every day to the business women and the public.

TALKS TO STUDENTS

Manager J. B. Wiles of the Chamber of Commerce talked to the high school students during their chapel hour this morning. He took for his theme "The High School Students' Place in the Community."

During his remarks he laid stress on how the citizenship made the city instead of its industries. He told of the workings of the modern Chamber of Commerce, how 250 members were on various committees and how this number handled the work instead of a small group of directors. Along this line he compared the former Board of Trade with the larger organization, the Chamber of Commerce. "If 10,000 more homes are built in Portsmouth and vicinity within the next five years Portsmouth will have an additional 20,000 population," Mr. Wiles said.

At the close of the address the four class presidents suggested that each class take out a membership, while a like suggestion was made for the high school faculty. When these are taken out the high school will have five memberships in the organization.

Income Tax Men Busy

March 15 is the last day for the making of income tax returns.

Every single person who makes $1,000 or more per year must make an income tax return. Every married man who makes $2,000 a year or more must make an income tax return. These are two inflexible, unbreakable rules of the income tax.

The return in such cases must be made even when dependents make the income tax-able.

The status of a man is determined by what he was and made on December 31, 1919. Returns should be made, and taxes paid, at the revenue office in the federal building. Deputy Collectors John H. Lyon and W. J. Bender of Cincinnati are in constant attendance at this office and will give any advice and assistance which the public desires.

Thurlow Funeral Will Be Held In Masonic Temple

Tomorrow afternoon the first funeral service to be held from the Masonic lodge room will be held at two o'clock. The last rites of David Thurlow, who died in Pittsburgh Monday will be held at this hour. The public is invited.

The body will arrive here tonight at 7:15, coming by the way of Columbus. On arrival here the remains will be taken to the home of Mrs. Christine Likens, 517 Eighth street. Mrs. Likens is a sister of Mrs. Thurlow.

At nine o'clock tomorrow morning the body will be removed to the Masonic hall, where it will remain until the funeral services at two o'clock. Friends are invited to the hall and view the body from nine o'clock until the last rites are held.

Rev. D. C. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will officiate at the funeral services.

All Masons are requested to meet at the hall at 1:30 Thursday afternoon.

Will Merge Papers

Tomorrow night in the dining room of the United Brethren Church, the Chamber of Commerce will hold the monthly Forum Supper, discussing the subject, "The Sandusky-Portsmouth Waterway." Professor C. J. Sherman, dean of the College of Engineering of Ohio State University will make the address of the evening and J. T. Reed will be the chairman. Prof. Sherman is the man who first discovered the advisability of using this route for the canal.

The Chamber of Commerce is now "all set" in the new quarters on Galla street and the manager, J. B. Wiles, stated Wednesday morning that plans were being made for a house warming to take place next week. The exact date has not been set, but will be announced in the near future.

The new offices are "scrupulously" from the railing in front and the stenographers' offices to the first street door. In between these two is manager Wiles' private office. W. P. Harris, corner, a director's room and the space which will soon be occupied by a "made in Portsmouth" exhibit.

The Business Men's Credit Association and the Seale County Farm Bureau occupy offices at the Sixth street entrance to the room.

PEANUT KERNEL REMOVED FROM BOY'S LUNG

Is Granted Divorce

The Enquirer of local interest Tuesday said:

Alleging her husband's "other wife" lived only four squares from their residence in Portsmouth and that he was convicted of bigamy, Mrs. Nora Heyer, 11444 street, was granted a divorce yesterday from August Heyer, who, it is alleged, is now in the Ohio Penitentiary. Mrs. Heyer said she lived four squares from her husband's first wife and four children for five months before she learned of his alleged previous marriage. They were married in Portsmouth, February 5, 1918, at which time she said her husband already was married to Mrs. Susan W. Heyer, Portsmouth, Ohio.
